Dear Dr. Burleigh,

Now that the postal strike
is over and the mails are back to normal,
I am writing to ask a small favour of you - a clue to be exact. I have been doing some work on a branch of my mother's family that my late uncle, the Rev. W. E. Baker, gave up on. I am now back to:

Jacob Kemp b. circa 1799
in Canada West

By 1842 he was living in Murray
Township, in what is now Northumberland County.
It seems likely that he was a son of either James, John or Joseph who seem to have moved from Fredericksburg, to Adolphustown, to Ameliastburg judging by the land petitions of their various progeny. Unfortunately, Jacob didn't make a petition - probably because he was a bit young to be in the War of 1812. Any idea where I might find birth records? Only other clues I have are that his first and second sons were named James and William, but I'm not sure which was the elder. He also had a son Joseph, but no John as far as I know. If my mother's memory is correct, he had a sister Sarah who lived in the United States. Religion, although "other" in 1842, seems to be Methodist with no particular preference as to variety.

Note also that James C. Kemp lived in the same general area (Cromake - Brighton). He was born in 1802 in Ameliastburg. One rather amusing note - James C.'s son Charles B. was an enumerator in the 1871 Census. He spelled the name "Kempt" for his own family and his relatives living in that division. Our family has a sort of tradition that once

The name had a "t" on the end. No other records seem to show this though.

Any suggestions on where I should hunt for information on Jacob's parents?

Another small personal puzzle is to find which of the many Cameron families had a daughter named Permilia Sarah and born in 1841 in Canada West - probably in the Trenton-Cilborne area. This one is well-nigh impossible - but if you happen to come across a clue, let me know.

Judging by Dr. Dilloni's last letter to branch presidents, all last winter's work - especially your efforts - was completely wasted on him. He is back to the "loyalty to the Empire" bit as a criterion for membership today, and with seven criteria for acceptable ancestor, some of which seem of very doubtful validity I wasn't at the June meeting of the Council unfortunately. Next meeting should be hot!

Sincerely

Jane Forgie

Dear Mr. Burleigh:

I do hope this letter reaches you. I had written to the Bay of Quinte branch and an answer was received informing me that you were no longer the genealogist of that branch and that the knowledge which you had on my families must have been personal knowledge as they had nothing on record. I noticed in the Loyalist Gazette that you are now genealogist of the new Kingston & District branch so am taking the liberty of writing to you in care of the president.

Quite some time ago I inquired at the Bay of Quinte branch on the surname CAMP/KEMP. You replied that there was data on a John Kemp with sons John Jr., James and Joseph and a daughter, Annie. At that time I was not sure these were of my family. However, further research has shown that a David Camp/Kemp came to Canada as a loyalist with eleven children. So far I have only definitely proved six of these children. However, the given names of James, John and Joseph seem to run in each generation of this family. Hence, I must assume the John Kemp you made reference to is probably a part of this family. David Sr. died shortly after settling in Canada. He had several sons old enough to be loyalists also, so he apparently was an older man. I am still looking for a James with sons James and John; a John with sons John and Joseph and a Joseph with sons John, James, Jacob and Philip.

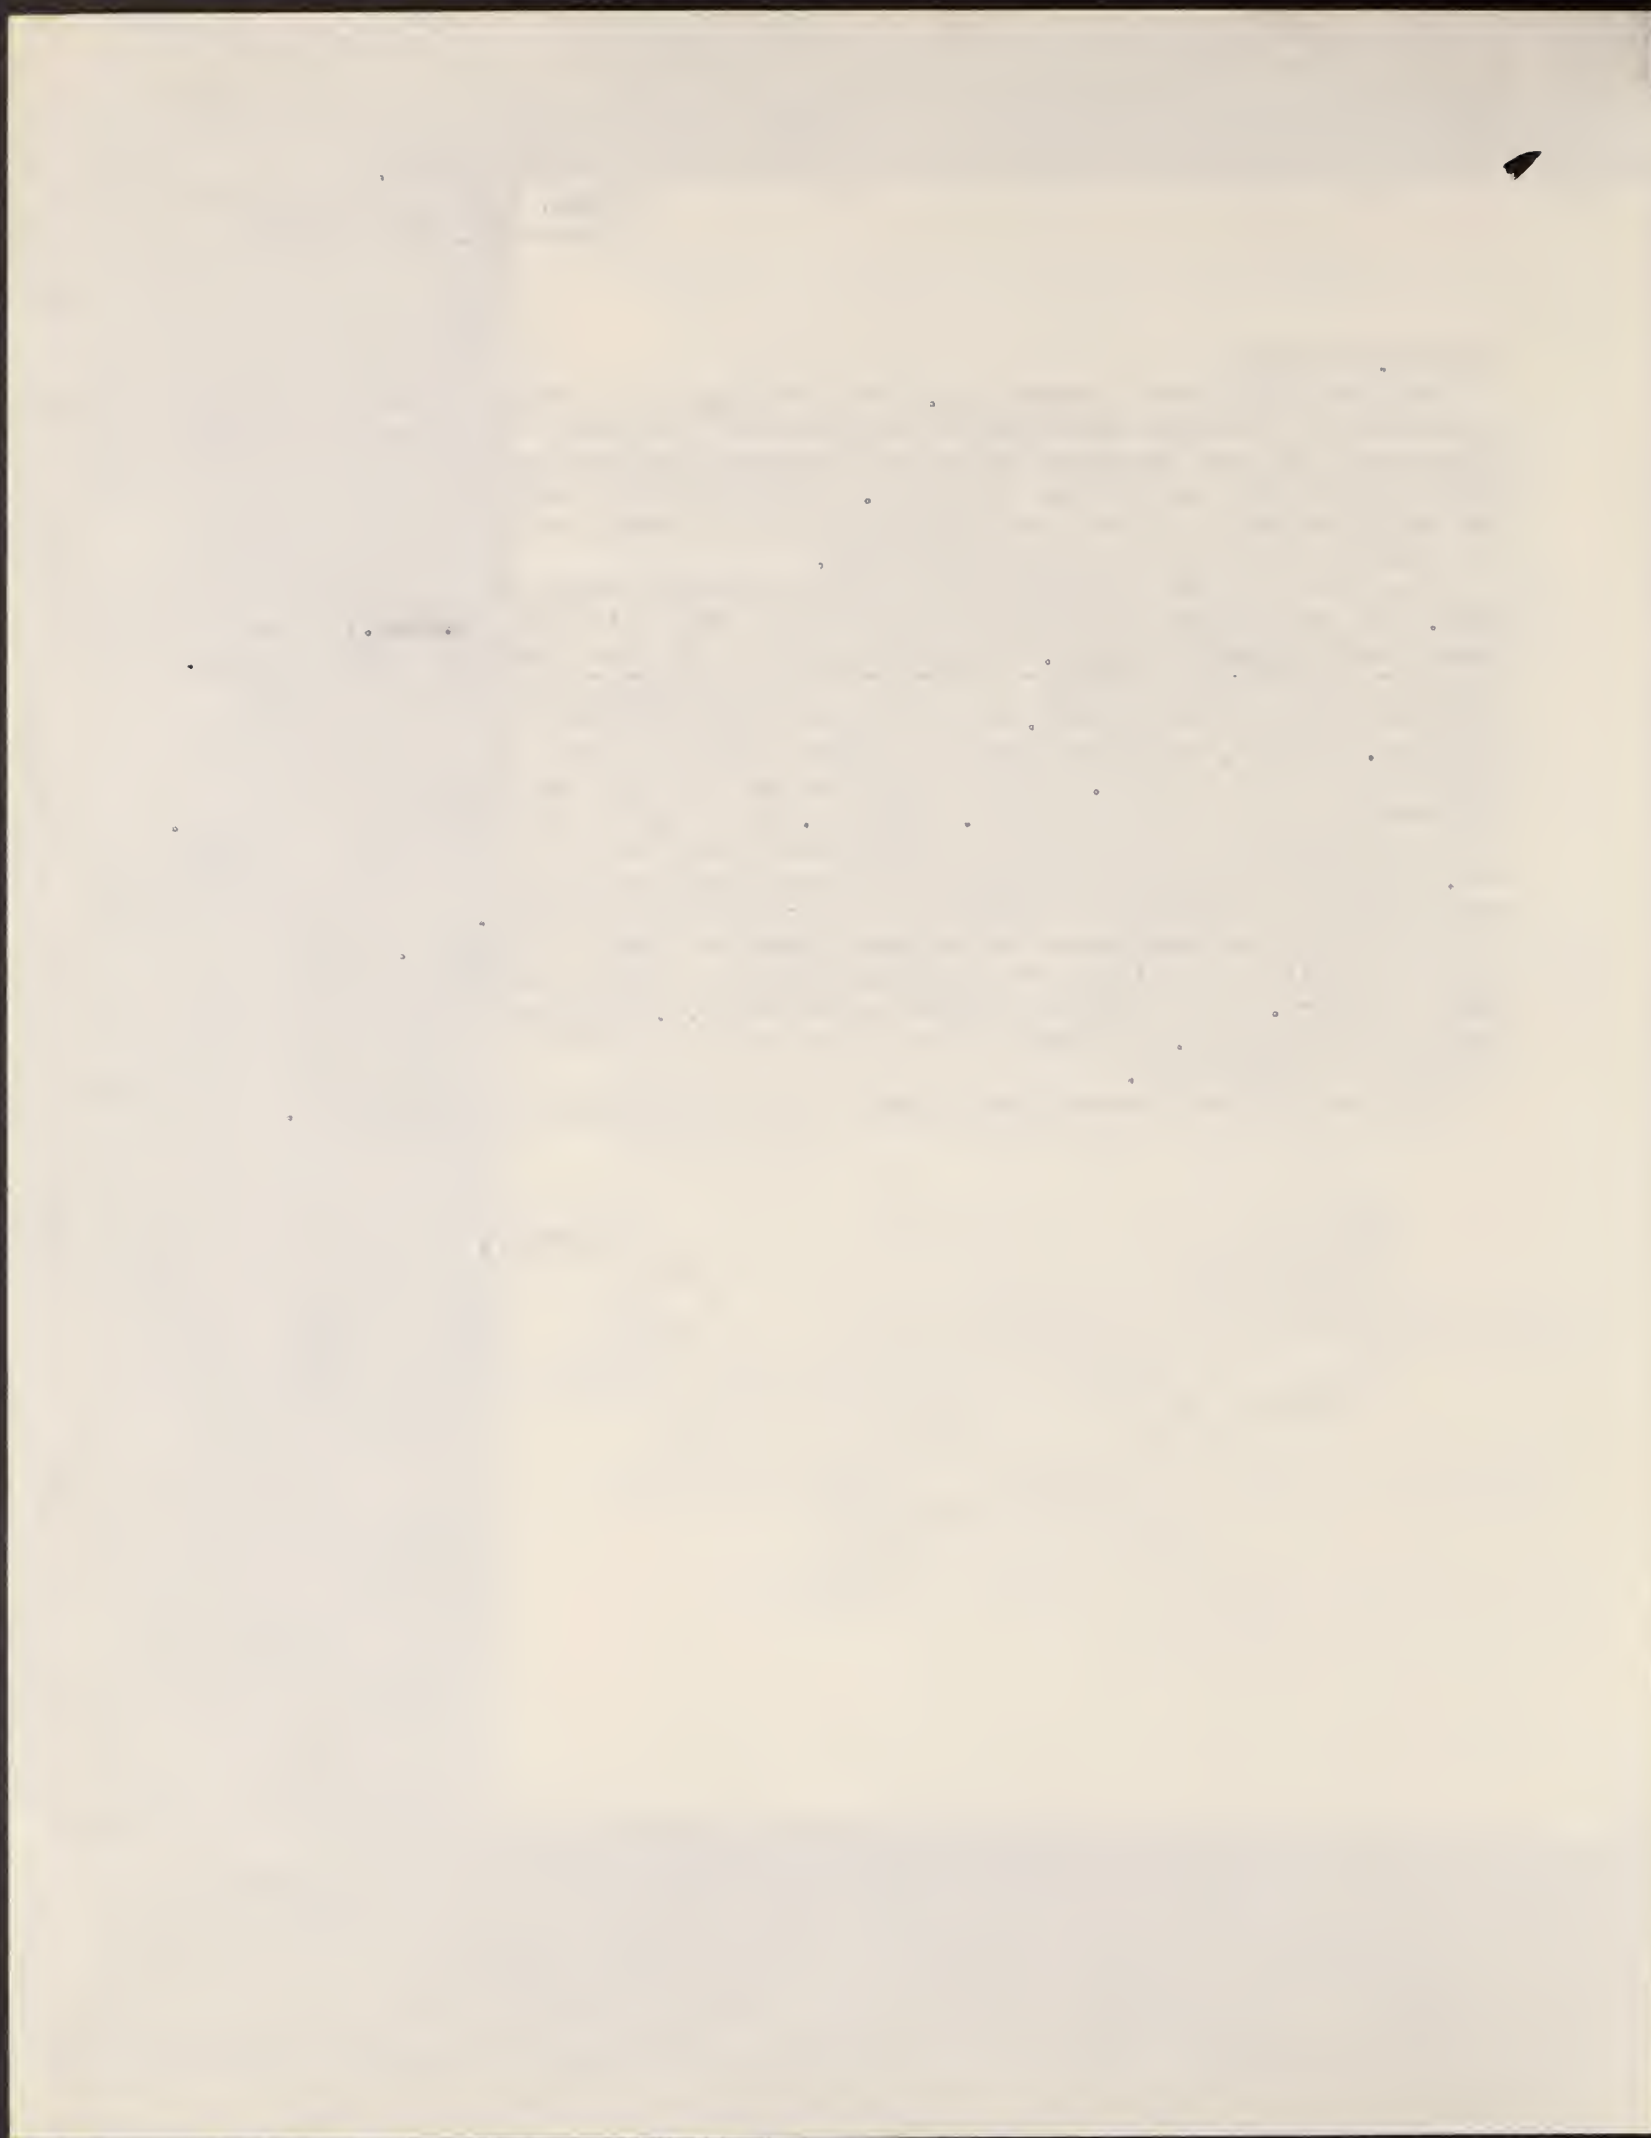

You offered your assistance before when I was not sure I needed it. I hope the offer is still open and that you will be willing to share what data you have on these families. I do have the two books, The Old U.E. Loyalist List and Sons and Daughters of the Rev. If there are any other references which you might refer me to, it would be appreciated.

Thank you for your time and assistance and good luck with your new branch.

Sincerely,

Mrs. June Harding

Quinte Loyalist Museum
Highway No. 33

Dear Sir:

I read with interest of your museum in the Loyalist Gazette. I am attempting to establish loyalist descendency and was very interested in the muster rolls for loyalist regiments and the 1784 census. Could you please advise if someone at the museum, for a fee, would check these for one surname. The party in which I am interested in Camp-Kemp. Wish I could be there to see your museum. Thank you very much and best wishes for the growth and success of the museum.

Sincerely,

Mrs. James Harding
